CONTENTS

Applying New Knowledge About Group Behavior—Ronald Lippitt 7

Utilizing New Knowledge About Individual Behavior in Work with Groups in the Leisure Time Setting—Alexander R. Martin 18

Services to Individuals Within a Croup Work Setting—Rosemary Reynolds 32

Discussion of Services to Individuals Within a Group Work Setting—Hazel Osborn 43

Discussion of Services to Individuals Within a Group Work Setting—Lester Schaeffer 47

Similarities and Differences Between Group Work and Group Therapy—Gisela Konopka 51

How Can We Interpret Group Work to the Public in These Times?—Mrs. Wm. Treuhaft 60

Implications of Detroit Job Load Study for Professional Practice —Laura Ault 68

What Has Group Work to Offer the Institutions?—Gisela Konopka 74

How Does the Public Look Upon Social Agencies in Time of Defense Mobilization and Preparation for War?—Robert E. Bondy 78

Special Needs of Congested Communities—Chas. Odell 88

Racial Tension in New Areas—Dr. Warren Banner 93

Community Planning for Industrial Expansion—Gerald Breese 98

Two-Pronged Approach to Community Planning—Edward D. Lynde 104

The Interrelatedness of Community-Wide and District Planning of Health and Welfare Services—Robert Neal 108

Service Accounting and Its Role in the Community—Esther Moore 112

National Resources for Local Planning for the Aging—Geneva Mathiasen 119

Rallying Community Forces in Planning for the Aging—Lucia Bing 124

The Role of Health Services in Community Planning for Children and Youth—Dr. Samuel M. Wishik 132

Private Agency Focus in Rehabilitation—Lawrence Linck 139

CONTENTS

Applying New Knowledge About Group Behavior—Ronald Lippitt 7

Utilizing New Knowledge About Individual Behavior in Work with Groups in the Leisure Time Setting—Alexander R. Martin 18

Services to Individuals Within a Croup Work Setting—Rosemary Reynolds 32

Discussion of Services to Individuals Within a Group Work Setting—Hazel Osborn 43

Discussion of Services to Individuals Within a Group Work Setting—Lester Schaeffer 47

Similarities and Differences Between Group Work and Group Therapy—Gisela Konopka 51

How Can We Interpret Group Work to the Public in These Times?—Mrs. Wm. Treuhaft 60

Implications of Detroit Job Load Study for Professional Practice —Laura Ault 68

What Has Group Work to Offer the Institutions?—Gisela Konopka 74

How Does the Public Look Upon Social Agencies in Time of Defense Mobilization and Preparation for War?—Robert E. Bondy 78

Special Needs of Congested Communities—Chas. Odell 88

Racial Tension in New Areas—Dr. Warren Banner 93

Community Planning for Industrial Expansion—Gerald Breese 98

Two-Pronged Approach to Community Planning—Edward D. Lynde 104

The Interrelatedness of Community-Wide and District Planning of Health and Welfare Services—Robert Neal 108

Service Accounting and Its Role in the Community—Esther Moore 112

National Resources for Local Planning for the Aging—Geneva Mathiasen 119

Rallying Community Forces in Planning for the Aging—Lucia Bing 124

The Role of Health Services in Community Planning for Children and Youth—Dr. Samuel M. Wishik 132

Private Agency Focus in Rehabilitation—Lawrence Linck 139